Mrs. Edholm Securing Money to Pay Off the Debt of the Florence Crittenden Home.

A BIG MEETING HELD SUNDAY NIGHT.

Granby Street and McKendree Meth odist Churches Packed With Peo ple-Large Nums Realized-The Programme of To-Day and To-

When Mrs. Charlton Edholm spoke to her first audience in Norfolk last week she announced that before she left the city she desired to collect money enough to pay off a debt of $1,500 on the Florence Crittendon Home in this city, Judging by the results accomplished by her Sunday it is possible that she will accomplish her purpose.

Mrs. Edholm spoke three times Sunday—in the morning at 11 o'clock at Cumberland Street M. E. Church; at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Gramby Street M. E. Church, and at night at McKendree Church, in Brambleton.

At Granby Street Church in the afternoon at the audience filled every available foot of space, the aisles and vestibule being filled with people unable to obtain sents. At this service about $100 was realized, and a like sum was obtained at McKendree at night. At the latter place hundreds of people were unable to get in, and to their regret had to leave. As it was church and lecture room were packed, chairs being placed in the aislesand around the pulpit. Her talk created a deep impression. Her talk created a deep im-

MR. WARD SURPRISED

The Young Instructor at the Y. M. C. A. Loaded Down With Presents,

AND SEVERAL GIFTS FOR HIS BRIDE.

Monschold Articles-The Work of Mr. Ward's Classes-Drills, and Dumbell Exercise-To Visit the Carnival of Trade.

It will be remembered that last week The Virginian noted the surprise created at the Y. M. C. A. when Mr. W. H. Ward, the physical director, walked in with his bride, whom he had married a few days before while in Washington on business.

Last night Mr. Ward was himself surprised while he was engaged in his class work in the gymnasium. He had just lined up the class when Mr. W. E. Lankford, one of the members, stepped to the centre of the room and called a halt in the exercises. A beautiful parior lamp with silk shade was brought forth, and in a well chosen speech Mr. Lankford presented it to the young groom—to help dight his pathway through life, as he expressed it. Mr. Ward was scennigly dumbfounded, and could not find words to express himself. While he was endeavoring to thank the young men for their remembrance other members of the class appeared with more practical articles, among them a broom, a dust-pan, a rolling pin and a potato masher, for while Mr. Ward was busy with his classes, they wanted to give his young wife something to occupy her mind and time at home.

Mr. Ward had a large class present and it was evident that he not only instructed them in the development of their lung power, for they cheered the instructor and the Y. M. C. A. In a vigorous manner—loud enough to be heard in Portsmouth. It was regular class night in the gymnasium, and the young men were put through the various evolutions of the physical development course. This consisted of intricate marches, dumb-cell and calesthenic exercises, and deeply interested a large number of the spectators in the gallery.

After the class had received its instructions the members engaged in vastructions the members engaged in vast bling.

The members of the class decided that they would attend the Carnival of Trade some night next week and show those present what they could do in gymnashum work.

The gentlemen who have heretofore composed the Y. M. C. C. orchestra last night held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall and permanently organized, under the name of the Norfolk Musical Association. The following efficers were elected: George H. Dawes, president; Jacob Hecht, vice-president; C. R. Towson, secretary and treasurer; William Erxleban, librarian and Charles Borjes, Musical Director.

WHIPCORDS!

THE NAME IS A HOUSEHOLD WORD!

WHIPCORD CHEVIOT SUITS.

Whenever you hear or see the words "WHIPCORD CHEVIOTS," you nat-urally think of "THE HUB." We hon-estly believe that we've sold more WHIP-CORD CHEVIOT SUITS this season than other dealers have sold suits of all other kinds combined. THE HUB'S WHIPCORD CHEVIOT is a suit that sells on sight. You recognize their value at a glance. You know the price is only $10. Many Suits far inferior in quality, make and finish have been sold in North make and finish, have been sold in Norfolk for $15 and $16. We challenge all competitors to produce the equal of our WHIPCORDS for $10.

WENSINGTON ERSEY.... Have Made A Big Hit!

> KENSINGTON KERSEY OVERCOATS!

It's an honest fact that our KEN-SINGTON KERSEY OVERCOATS look as stylish and as dressy as a $20 garment, and when you come right down to the plain truth, THEY ARE JUST AS GOOD AS THE AVER-AGE OVERCOATS SOLD FOR $20. You might as well throw your money in the street as to pay $2 for an article you can buy for $1, or to pay $20 for an Overcoat you can buy for $10. Hope you'll take the hint and look at our "KENSINGTONS" before you buy an Overcoat.

BUT "THERE ARE OTHERS."

We've been telling you a great deal about our WHIPCORD CHEVIOT SUITS and KENSINGTON KERSEY OVERCOATS. Every word we've said is absolutely TRUE, but we've hundreds of ficer SUITS and more costly OVERCOATS. Garments of richest and finest textures and princely make and finish. If you are a careful and fastidious dresser you'll find styles and qualities to please your most exacting tastes in THE HUB'S superb array of tashionable attire.

STOP WASTING WATER

The lakes are now ten inches lowerthan in September, 1894, when we apprehended a short water suply.

They are only three inches higher to-day (after the late rains) than the lowest point reached during the drought. An addition of about two weeks' supply on-ly. Yet the people seem to think that the late rains have replenished the lakes, as the daily waste is over six hundred thousand gillons more than two weeks ago. We appeal again to the people to stop wasting the water—being placed in the alsies and around the pulpit. Her talk created a deep limpression.

Mrs. Edholm began by refering to her visit last Thursday night to houses on Wolfe street and a promise made to her by one of the inmates that she would return to her mother's house in Brooklyn. "And I have just heard today," said the speaker, "that she has gone—gone back to her dear mother's arms. How glad I was when I heard it." She then offered a fervent prayer for all those girls who were then Inmates of haunts of vice in this city. She attacked the "age of consent" laws of the State, and said the girls who live in the haunts of vice were called abandoned girls. "They have not abandoned us, but we have abandoned then," said the speaker. She had found in some of the States that the age of consent was ten years, making a girl at that time a possible victim for any wretch who came along. She had been looking into the laws of the States, and some of these allowed a child 12 years old to be made un outcast by bad men and yet there was no penalty, while if a man should honorably marry a girl of 17 those same laws would send the husband to the penilentiary.

She referred to the fact that women had been elected to the Legislature a some of the States, and the first bill istroduced by them was one rait & in the age of consent to 21 years. Isn't that like a mothers' work? Referring to an effort to reduce the age of consent in New York State, she told how the bill had been defeated through the efforts of the Wonan's Christian Temperance Union.

She wanted to see Florence Crittenden by the states and a sea did not a large and a large a entrances to saloons and come out rained. She did not wonder at men committing suicide who had wrecked the life of some glrt.

Mrs. Edholm pleaded with the men present for personal purity, detailing the story of establishment of the Florence Crittenden. Home by Charles N. Crittenden.

She made an appeal in the interest of the local home and urged prohibition as the only means of abolishing saloons, which she claimed was the cause of the ruin of so many girls. The story of her husband's downfall and subsequent death from insantity was detailed, during which tears filled the eyes of hundreds present.

A wrong impression as to the time for the meeting prevented her from filling her engagement at the V. M. C. A Sunday afternoon.

Last night Mrs. Edholm spoke at
